WEATHER AND CROPS.—During the first part of the present week the coldest nights ever known in this latitude for the season of the year, was experienced. We have heard it especially remarked by citizens who have resided here for the past twenty-five or thirty years, that the past Spring has been the most remarkably wet one that they have ever known. In consequence of this, great damage has been done to wheat, the rust making its appearance in many of the finest fields. The cold weather referred to, has injured the cotton plant to some extent, to what degree, however, it is impossible to determine as yet. We hear of complaints respecting the ravages of the cut worms; though the foraging of these destructive little creatures is principally confined to the garden spots; in connection with this, we would remark that we have heard it asserted by those who are entitled to credence, that elder leaves are an effectual remedy for these pests, and that they never fail to drive the worms away. Elder bushes are never disturbed by insects of any kind, and as the growth is almost universal throughout the Southern States, their efficacy can be easily tested by those who desire to protect their garden plants from the mischievous cut worms. Gather the leaves and sprinkle them over the plants in the evening.

THE FESTIVAL.—Last night one week ago the gallant and beautiful assembled at the Female Academy and partook of the delicacies of the season—strawberries and cream; bright eyes and sympathetic hearts were joined together in the laudable effort of contributing to the monumental fund. Ye local was not there, and in consequence grievous much. A handsome sum was the result of the evening's festivities, and all went and came as merry as a marriage bell. The ladies, bless them, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, were present, in their loveliest and prettiest attire, and largely outnumbered the sterner sex. The sum of ninety dollars was the clear proceeds of the supper, every dime of which was turned over to Esquire Hardy, the worthy secretary of the Monumental Association.

The Phenological journal for June contains portraits of Hon. Solomon F. Thos. Jefferson, Aaron Burr, Constance Emily Kent, Jenny Lind, a Group of Moquis or Utah Indians, with upwards of twenty illustrations and sketches of character; also practical Physiology, love and lovers, marriage and divorce, calvary, revelation and science, your likeness, strong men, hints to preachers and sextons, physical culture, true politeness, how to talk, fashions, etc. $2 a year, or 20 cents a number. A new volume—the 44th—begins with the next number. Address Fowler & Wells 389 Broadway, New York.

FRUIT TREES.—In another column will be found the advertisement of Messrs. Koen & Bloedsoe, proprietors of the Shelly Nurseries, located near Collierville, 24 miles east of Memphis, on the Charleston railroad. Mr. Nathan W. Smith is their accredited agent, and is here for the purpose of soliciting orders from our citizens. Persons who desire to examine the catalogue of fruit trees, plants and flowers of this celebrated nursery, can do so by calling at this office, as a lot of catalogues have been left with us for distribution.

W. T. Brooks requests us to say that he has received his large size Camera, with which he is enabled to take pictures larger and more perfect than has ever been taken in this place. He is also in receipt of a good supply of new and improved material, and altogether, he is prepared to furnish pictures in any style and quantity, and on the most reasonable terms. Give him a call.

"Blood, Iago, Blood!"—No, not that blood, but another Blood—Blood & Co., of 361 Main street, and No. 40 Monroe street, Memphis. These gentlemen have coal oil, lamps, lanterns, and an endless variety of household goods, wholesale and retail.

CHOATE & CO.—No. 232 Front street, Memphis, is where you can purchase hardware, parlor and cooking stoves, grates, tin and copper-ware, tin-plate, etc. This is an old established house and should be patronized by all of the old timers.

TORNSHAW.—Lacy, a married Joseph, is the tonorial artist of Memphis. He holds forth at the Commercial Hotel and also at the Washburn House. Call and see him when you are in the bluff city, and undergo a decided change for the better.

411—Yes, 411, Jefferson st., is the place to drop in if you desire something sparkling and bright. Disle, in company with McGhee, holds forth there, and never fails to make you feel better for the coming.

Elson & Co. are desirous of making it known to the good citizens of this county that they are selling goods remarkably low. Call and see Bent, Crisp, and he will convince you that he offers bargains.

Simpson, Hadden & Co., 202 Front street, Memphis, have a house full of choice groceries and plantation supplies, all of which they propose to sell low to the trade. See their card.

The Memphis and Little Rock railroad is to be opened as speedily as possible. An election recently held in Memphis for officers of the road resulted as follows:

President.—R. C. Brinkley.
Directors.—H. B. Edmonson, Geo. D. Prentice, M. J. Wicks, Wm. Dixon.

Franz, of the Brandon (Miss) Republican says: "Douglas Jerrold calls women's arms 'the serpents that wind around men's necks, killing the best resolutions.' That class of serpents can just wind around our neck, as much as they please, and if any of the young ladies believe what Jerrold says they can come and try the experiment on us. We'll risk the consequences."

A great deal of the cotton crop of Northern Georgia has been plowed up, and corn planted instead. The same state of affairs exists also in Upper Alabama. More than one-fourth of a crop cannot be safely counted on in those two sections. Defective seed is partly the cause.

The Bank of London has failed. Its liabilities are £1,000,000. There are rumors of other suspensions.

Passed May 30, 1866.

L. B. ADAMS, Recorder.

The Cairo Democrat thus poetizes the latest agony of hoops:

These hoops are like the poet Gray;

This you at once may say;

For they, as Gray did, show the world

A handsome L-E-G.

To which our "little devil" replies:

A handsome L-E-G, you say;

Why, dear me, where've you been

Hoops are killing every day,

And padded calves are seen.

Two more vessels have arrived at New York from Europe with cholera on board.

The Peruvian from Liverpool, with 750 passengers, 28 of whom were down with the disease; she lost 35 by cholera during the passage. The Nixon, from the same place, with 400 passengers, 33 of whom are now sick on board. She lost 33 during the passage. Both vessels arrived on the 30th ult.

A locomotive and four cars were plunged into the Cumberland river at Clarksville last Friday week, by the giving away of a span of the railroad bridge. Fourteen or fifteen persons were on the train at the time of the accident, only one of whom was killed, although several persons were more or less injured. The locomotive is entirely submerged.

Count Bismark, the celebrated Prussian minister, was fired at by an assassin named Blind, in Berlin recently. The bullet missed its mark, and Bismark seized the would-be assassin, and held him until help arrived. Blind was cast into prison, and committed suicide by stabbing himself in the throat.

Roberts and Stevens, the Fenian war dogs, are at loggerheads. Stevens don't want Roberts to fight and Roberts says he will. The latter gentleman is concentrating a heavy force on the Canadian frontier, whither the Fenians are flocking from all quarters.

The Louisiana country papers give sad accounts of the floods and distress attending them. Provisions are continually being forwarded to the sufferers. The corn, cane and cotton in twelve parishes is completely devastated. The work of closing Boulaye crevasse is progressing, but the floods are high.

It is now stated that Dr. Winship can lift three thousand pounds, which is the limit that he prescribed for himself at the commencement of his experiments, after which he was to repose on his laurels.—Boston Post.

Wonder if he couldn't raise the interest on the public debt?—La Crosse Democrat.

No, Sir! He'll have to ship wind considerable first.
